Financial Aid

Financial Aid includes scholarships, assistantships, grants, loans and student employment. This section includes information for U.S. students only. Canadian or other international students should consult the Financial Aid Office or the www.law.udmercy.edu website directly about aid opportunities and policies. Canadian students should contact their province's Student Aid Program for information and applications for aid to study in the U.S. Most of the time, Canadian Dual JD students receive larger awards from Canadian and provincial governments if they apply as Windsor students.

Financial Aid Application Information

Any student who has a scholarship or needs financial assistance in order to pay tuition and fees is encouraged to apply for financial aid as early as possible. April 1 is the priority application date for applying for aid for 2017-18. Students interested in work study are reminded that they must complete the FAFSA on time and indicate on it that they wish to be considered for Work Study, as work study funds may be limited and awarded on a first come, first served basis. Applicants applying after April 1 are processed in the order of completion of their files. Late financial aid applicants will be responsible for any late fees charged due to late receipt of financial aid.

Students desiring aid other than an institutional scholarship must complete a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) for 2017-18. This form is available on line at www.fafsa.ed.gov or on paper by phoning the U.S. Department of Education at 1-800-433-3243. The student must submit the FAFSA to the federal processor, either by mail or on line, and have this form electronically transmitted to the Financial Aid Office.

REMINDER: Any student who completed a 2016-17 FAFSA must use the same income information (that from calendar year 2015) on the 2017-18 FAFSA. Students whose income and tax information from 2016-17 and 2017-18 conflicts must resolve the conflicting information before an award can be made. In addition, changes to a student's 2016-17 award may have to be made retroactively if it is found that the information on the 2016-17 FAFSA was incorrect.

Students are reminded that they must complete all the student FAFSA questions, paying special attention to questions regarding untaxed income and benefits. Any money received by the student or paid on the student's behalf by any other person or organization (including parents, relatives, friends and certain outside agencies) must be reported. Any income, taxable or untaxed, should be from calendar year 2015. Students need not report parental income, but should report any income or other monetary support (including gifts) they received from parents, friends or others in 2015 as untaxed income.

Students need to pay special attention to the questions in Step 6 regarding housing plans for 2017-18. Students whose plans change from what is reported on the FAFSA must update the Financial Aid Office to receive the proper award. Students who plan to relocate to a home or apartment in the Detroit area must update their information with the Financial Aid Office once they have made their move.

Even though the 2017-18 FAFSA is going to use the same (2015) income as the 2016-17 FAFSA did, students may still be selected for verification or for conflicting information. Any verification form, tax transcript, asset statement and/or other forms requested by the Financial Aid Office or demanded by the SAR (the FAFSA output document) are to be submitted directly to the Financial Aid Office. Students desiring alternative loans must complete the alternative loan application of their choice and notify the Financial Aid Office of the lender and the amount of the loan requested.

Student Loans

Students receiving a federal student loan for the first time at UDM must complete a Direct Loan Master Promissory Note and an Entrance Interview for each type of loan requested before any federal student loan funds may be credited to their account. Students may complete on-line Stafford and/or Graduate PLUS Loan Master Promissory Note and entrance interview by linking to the Direct Loan website from their award page in TitanConnect or accessing www.studentloans.gov directly.

Federal Stafford and Graduate PLUS student loans are disbursed via electronic fund transfer (EFT) from the government to the University. This is the same for virtually all alternative loans from sources in the U.S. Students who have a loan through a different country or loans that are disbursed via paper check must appear in person to endorse their check. It is the responsibility of the student to complete Master Promissory Note(s) (MPNs) and entrance interview(s) required by the federal government and/or a private lender and to endorse paper checks in a timely fashion. Late payment fees incurred due to delayed completion of the MPN(s), entrance interview(s) or endorsement of checks will not be removed.

Work-Study and Other On-Campus Student Employment

Students who receive a work study award or who wish to work on the non-work study program may obtain a Student Employment Authorization at or after final registration if they have the proper materials to complete the I-9 form. These documents include a U.S. Passport, or a combination of a Driver's License, State or Military ID AND an original social security card or birth certificate, among others. International Students must have their visa documents. Students may not begin working until they have obtained a Student Employment Authorization and have had that authorization signed by the person in their department who is authorized to make hiring decisions. For off-campus work study, the form must be signed by a person at the agency authorized to enter into contracts with the University and authorize payment, if required. Any student hired for a student employee position must present their Social Security Card to a Financial Aid Officer in order to be paid, per Human Resources requirements.

Refunds of excess tuition and fee payments

Funds paid by the student or by a financial aid program in excess of the tuition and fee charges incurred by the student will be refunded to the student if the student is registered for the number of credit hours for which she/he applied for aid and all other information in the financial aid file is correct. Refunds may be distributed by direct deposit for students who have a checking or savings account in a banking institution in the United States or mailed from the McNichols Campus to the student's mailing or home address as listed on the TitanConnect records. Students should check TitanConnect to ensure that their bank account and address information are correct in order to receive their refund in a timely manner. Students with foreign addresses may wish to obtain a bank account or P.O. Box in the U.S. to avoid delays in the receipt of refunds.

Refunds of excess financial aid monies may be made as early as the week prior to the beginning of classes if the student is registered for the number or credit hours for which the award was made (based upon their division, past and current enrollment status, and number of credits remaining to earn their degree, and any information received from the student indicating a number differing from the range of expected hours for their division); does not have any prior past due balance; that all required documents have been submitted to the financial aid office and any conflicting information is resolved; that the student's living arrangements are the same as those reported on the FAFSA; that all promissory notes, entrance interview and credit requirements are met; and that the student is not receiving any outside assistance not reported to the Financial Aid Office. Students should be financially prepared to meet, at minimum, their cost of books, supplies and living expenses (including rent) incurred during the first 2-3 weeks of the semester. Students for whom financial aid arrives after final registration must allow 2 weeks thereafter for a refund.

Refunds may be delayed, reduced, or eliminated if the student is not enrolled for the number of credits for which she/he applied for aid; if living arrangements reported on the FAFSA were not accurate; if the student fails to complete an entrance interview; if the student has not completed and returned any required promissory note(s) to their lender(s); if the student completed the financial aid application or submitted materials late; if the student's loan application is rejected or denied by the lender; if the student is not making Satisfactory Academic Progress per the Federal Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy (on the law school and university websites) or if the student receives outside aid not reported to the Financial Aid Office.

Recalculation of Aid

The award screen shows the enrollment status for which aid will be provided. Students who enroll or plan to enroll for different number of credits than what appears on the award screen are to notify the Financial Aid Office via a Request for Re-evaluation form available on-line at www.law.udmercy.edu (click on "Students" then "Financial Aid" and follow the link to the forms page for any forms needed) or from the Financial Aid Office. This form should be done as soon as students become aware of the change, preferably before final registration. Students who register for a different enrollment status than for which they applied for aid; who receive aid or payments on their behalf from outside sources or whose residency status changes must have their financial aid package re-evaluated prior to receiving any refund. This is also true for any student who drops classes.

Upon recalculation of aid, the student will be sent an e-mail referring him/her to TitanConnect to view any changes required to be made. Should any refund be due to the student, it will be made within 2 weeks of the latter of the date of the revised award or the date funds are received and posted to the student's account.

Withdrawals

Students who receive federal student aid and who completely withdraw from classes prior to completing 60% of the semester will have their federal aid prorated accordingly. Students must complete at least 60% of the semester to earn a full semester's worth of federal aid. Withdrawal at or prior to the 60% point of the term will result in proration of financial aid, leaving the student with a debt to the school. For fall 2017, the 60% point is reached on November 3; students withdrawing on or before that date will have their aid pro-rated.

Copies of the institutional and federal refund policies are available from the financial aid office and on the financial aid website.

Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP)

Students receiving federal or certain other types of financial aid must make satisfactory academic progress toward a degree. Satisfactory Academic Progress has 3 components: grade point, completion of classes/progressing adequately toward degree completion, and staying in good standing with the School of Law. A copy of the Federal Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy appears on the financial aid website. Students who do not meet SAP requirements after one term are put on SAP warning; after two terms, the aid is terminated with the ability to appeal for a probationary term. Students failing to meet requirements during the probationary term may have their financial aid terminated until the point at which they meet the requirements of the SAP policy without the assistance of federal student aid (including loans).
